I encourage peer learning

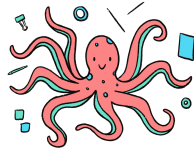

I frame prompts to open up possibilities

I curate diverse, inspiring example projects

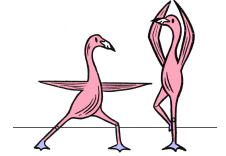

I celebrate process and product

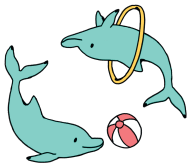

I keep my hands off the tools!

I use accessible language

I give myself time to grow

I model curiosity and confidence

I am friendly and approachable

I am patient and take time to listen

I ask questions to help others articulate their ideas

I encourage persistence

I recognize resilience

I praise effort

I respect ideas and ask questions to help others find ways to improve

Their idea is the big idea—It's about them, not me!

I make a safe space for taking risks and learning from failure

I document and share my creative process

I am open to changing plans when needed

I aim to create a respectful and inviting learning environment

I try making projects myself

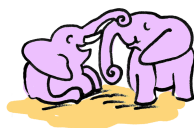

I welcome everyone's ideas

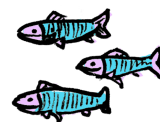

I imagine many outcomes, not just one end goal

I don't need to be the only person in the room with answers

I get to know participants, and let them get to know me

I go with the flow

I foster energy and joy
