

Other thoughts and ideas you'd like to share with your peers who might run a similar program

What would you do differently next time?

Describe a memorable moment with a learner or participant

Continued Reflections!

...continue on the next page

What facilitation tips did you use? It can be from PLIX or one of your own!

How did you support creative STEAM learning?

What went well or felt successful?

Getting into the practice of reflecting helps you grow into a better facilitator. Set aside 5-10 minutes to jot quick responses to these questions!

After the program: Reflect!

More Resources

Try a PLIX activity with us!

Get started on a STEAM activity with the PLIX team and community through our free monthly make-and-meet workshops

Refresh your facilitation practice

Choose from a 2-week or 4-week paced email course to learn about or refresh yourself on facilitating creative STEAM learning for your community!

MIT Public Library
Innovation Exchange
plix.mit.edu

an interactive zine for Documenting and Reflecting on your STEAM library program

Getting Ready: Take Photos

- ☐ 📷 The space set up
- ☐ 📷 The tables and how materials are set up
- ☐ 📷 A selfie of you in the space, or ask someone to help!
- ☐ 📷 The diverse examples created by you, your peers, or your volunteers

At the Start

Use the space below to collect the number of participants and their approximate ages

Number of people:

Ages:

During the Program: Take Photos

Remember that asking for permission before taking photos fosters trust, connection, and agency for all ages

- ☐ 📷 Take photos of creations, both completed and in-progress!
- ☐ 📷 Take photos from the backs of learners, or of their hands that captures them in action!
- ☐ 📷 Take photos of learners sharing or collaborating!
- ☐ 📷 Take photos of anything else that stood out to you

Get creative in avoiding faces in these photos (and the need for a media release)

Facilitation reminder:
Give yourself time to grow.

Facilitation is a practice that takes trying, reflecting, and iterating. Don't stress about being good at it right away.

Find more facilitator resources at → plix.mit.edu/facilitator-resources

If you have questions, comments, or love letters for us, please email:
heyplix@mit.edu