Introduce yourself	45 years old. High school teacher for 20 yrs; first 15 teaching English and recent 5 teaching Art. I love making art and teaching my students about art making and the art world as I continue exploring it. I consider myself a painter primarily, but love making art in most forms, including playing music and dancing. I am habitually curious.

Do you have a project in mind at this time?	Right now my project is myself and my art practice. I'm about to finish a master's in art education for work, and will shift gears into developing my studio practice and who I am as an artist. My goal is to balance and merge my lives as a teacher and as a showing artist.
Tell us why you want to join Quarantine	Quarantine seems like an amazing experience. If I'm able to be a part of it, I would hope it helps me to get deeper in touch with my why so I can better steer the way I develop my how.
Briefly describe your Artistic and Creative difficulties	My creative difficulties come from a lack of confidence that how I'm spending my time is the best way to spend my time. Academically, I know that the path is the path and that I just need to soldier forward and engage. But the other part of me wants an outside guiding voice to know that I can dig into it and truly have faith in the process.
What are your inner demons?	None
Anything else you want us to know?	I would say my inner demon is that I don't want to go my entire adult having to act as my own artistic mentor.
Fluency in English	Fluent
