SPEAKING

YOUR SCORE: 130

Typically, test takers have limited success at expressing an opinion or responding to a complicated request. Responses include problems such as:

- language that is inaccurate, vague, or repetitive
- minimal or no awareness of audience
- long pauses and frequent hesitations
- limited expression of ideas and connections between ideas
- limited vocabulary

Most of the time, test takers can answer questions and give basic information. However, sometimes their responses are difficult to understand or interpret.

When reading aloud, test takers are generally intelligible. However, when creating language, their pronunciation, intonation, and stress may be inconsistent.

Test takers should be able to perform some of the following communication tasks:

- Have "small talk" with a guest about topics of general interest (e.g., the weather)
- Give a brief sightseeing tour to a guest from abroad
- Tell a colleague how to perform a routine task

PRONUNCIATION: MEDIUM

When reading aloud your pronunciation is generally intelligible with some lapses.

INTONATION AND STRESS: MEDIUM

When reading aloud your use of intonation and stress is generally effective.
