Courses

If you complete a course and there is still time you are welcome to try another.

See below for details on the courses on offer.

Course	Distance	Technical Level	Who is it for?
White		1	The easiest course and a great place for children to start. The course is entirely on paths and each time you have to make a decision - which path to take, there will be a control point. Suitable for people who have limited mobility and buggies.
Yellow		2	The next step up and a good place for teenagers etc. to start. The course will use paths but also other line features - Fences, streams etc. It will also no longer have a control every time you need to decide where you are going. For example, you may need to make a couple of turns on paths between controls. Because of the park setting there will be some controls that do not follow line feature. Instead, they will be on a point feature (e.g. a tree) but close by. By turning the map so that it matches the ground you will be able to see the next control to go to.
Orange		3	Harder still, this course introduces: Choosing routes - e.g. should I go round the paths to the left or right Using 'Point Features' as control sites Basic use of a compass
Lt Green		4	Harder than the Orange, these courses are slightly longer than orange and utilise point (e.g. boulders) and contour features.
Green & Blue		5	Harder than the Lt Green, this course will use the whole park and is as technically hard as we can make it given the area.

Clothing, Equipment & Safety

Shoes with good grips are important on all courses. Those competing on orange courses and above should wear full leg cover. Children can be shadowed or can take part in pairs.

Officials

Planner: Eunice Carter & Andrew Ferguson
