

Find causes. Find ways to help.

Make an impact that matters. ♥

Millie makes it easy to discover nonprofits and volunteer opportunities so you can give your time where it counts.

1 Find a nonprofit

Search it your way.

Search by nonprofit name, location, EIN, or website URL.

For the most precise match, use the EIN. Find it with Google, an AI search, or the nonprofit's website.

Browse by category + subcategory, based on the nonprofit's NTEE classification.

Go local: filter by distance from home to discover organizations nearby.

Favorite nonprofits you care about to save them for later and make giving even easier.

2 Find a volunteer opportunity

Near you - or anywhere.

Use the distance filter to find in-person opportunities close to home - great for plans with friends, family, or coworkers.

Prefer to help from your couch? Millie has a wide collection of remote volunteer activities, too.

Nonprofits add their own volunteer events to Millie, so the database may not show everything they offer.

Found an organization you love? Ask them directly how you can help - then log your hours in Millie so your impact counts!
